

Rusk Warns Red China:

U.S. Will Aid Asian Allies

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned Red China today that the United States will retaliate "with whatever means would be required" if it launches a nuclear attack against any of America's Asian allies.

Asked at a news conference if the United States is prepared to reply with atomic bombs if one of its Asian allies is attacked with nuclear weapons, Rusk paused, then answered with quiet deliberation:

"I can't think of anything more insane than an attack with nuclear weapons on an ally of the United States in Asia."

"We would meet our obligations under our mutual security treaties with whatever means would be required."

Though Communist China was not referred to either in the question or the answer, the exchange followed a discussion of Chinese nuclear testing and a statement by Rusk that the United States will take further development of Chinese nuclear capability "fully into account in our own defense arrangements."

Annual Conference
The conference was the fifth annual meeting of the Joint U. S. - Japan Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs. The final communiqué reflected disagreements between the two countries on Viet Nam and trade with Red China.

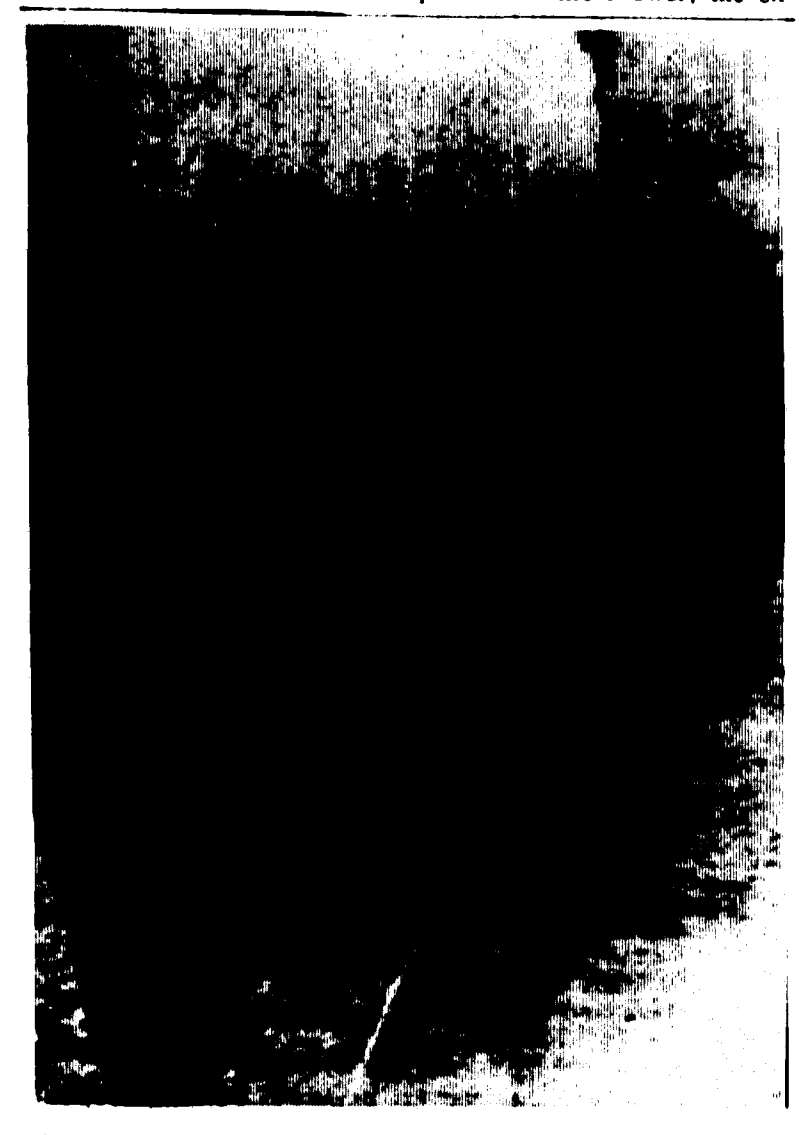

The communiqué did not mention the Japanese view on credits but said Japan would continue to develop trade relations with Communist countries "on the basis of the principle of separating the political and economic aspects of Japan's relations with them."

Aid in Viet

The communiqué also did not mention Viet Nam. It is known, however, that the United States would like to see greater Japanese nonmilitary participation in Viet Nam, while Japan wants military moderation and an early peace. Japan's aid in Viet Nam consists of a medical team and help for refugees.

Rusk defended the bombing of the Hanoi and Haiphong fuel depots and said the United States has no interest in bombing civilian populations there. He scoffed at critics who said the air attacks on the doorstep of North Viet Nam's two cities added an obstacle to a negotiated peace in Viet Nam.

"What peace?" he asked with sarcasm in his voice. "I have seen no evidence that the other side wants peace. I cannot see that the striking of POL (petroleum, oil, lubricants) will interfere with a peace that the other side doesn't want."

Hart Claims Bill Has $200 Shopper Saving

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says economists estimate the Senate-passed "truth in packaging" bill, which he sponsored, could save the average shopper about $200 a year simply by reducing the number of guesses he or she has to make.

The House has yet to act on the bill, backed by President Johnson, which the Senate passed 72-9.

Hart quoted from a magazine story of some three years ago which said:

"One of these days, with a little luck and some prodding on Capitol Hill, the packagers of soap flakes are going to be forced to adopt the high moral standards of Bourbon distillers."

While making clear he didn't want to be accused of pushing whisky sales by stressing the convenience of purchase, Hart said liquor stores are probably the easiest places in which to do comparative pricing.

"The bottles may come in different shapes but each will hold a fifth of a gallon and by studying the prices under each, the shopper can readily tell the lowest cost brand," Hart said.

"He may not buy the lowest brand but he will at least know how much he is paying for that extra smoothness."

Compare that, he said, to the difficulty of finding the least expensive instant coffee among a dozen brands all at different weights and prices.

The bill would allow the government, in cases where industry fails to act voluntarily, to set standard weights and measures in which products may be sold.

Kowalski Blast Aims At Hoffa

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker Joseph Kowalski blasted back at Teamsters Union President James Hoffa Wednesday for Hoffa's statement that Republican Gov. George Romney has helped labor in Michigan more than former Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Kowalski, a former United Auto Workers International representative, wired Hoffa: "Your crediting Gov. Romney with a good record in support of labor and criticizing the record of G. Mennen Williams is a classic example of how wrong one person can be."

Hoffa made his comments in an interview with the Detroit News this week.

Kowalski claimed that "Romney has utterly failed, not only labor, but all Michigan taxpayers by repeatedly bending to wishes of big business at the expense of labor and the citizen."

Kowalski credited the Democratic-controlled Legislature for labor measures passed in the last two years.

Hoffa has endorsed Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh against Williams in the Democratic U. S. Senate primary.

Navy Bombers Hit Haiphong In Oil Dock Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy planes today bombed the oil storage depot in the Haiphong dock area two miles northwest of the heart of the city for the second time, the U.S. military command announced.

The Haiphong depot, through which 95 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum supplies move, was first bombed on June 29 along with another major depot three miles from the heart of Hanoi. The attacks set off a worldwide debate.

A U.S. spokesman said A4 Skyhawks from the aircraft carrier Hancock struck the fuel installation at 1 p.m. and that pilots reported "all bombs on target."

The spokesman said one Skyhawk was shot down by anti-aircraft fire but the pilot was rescued.

Pilots reported smoke from the depot rose 20,000 feet and a fireball erupted from a secondary explosion, the spokesman said.

He said pilots saw no ships at the piers near the oil depot but that there were three ships in the outer harbor. The ships apparently were not attacked.

Earlier the U.S. command announced American planes flew a record 113 missions against North Viet Nam Wednesday and eluded four surface-to-air missiles, but two of the raiders were shot down, apparently by conventional ground fire. The three pilots were listed as missing.

The U.S. command again reported no significant ground action by American forces. But the South Vietnamese army announced its third major military success in two days, the destruction of a big Viet Cong medical and arms depot in the Mekong Delta and the killing of 155 of the enemy in a day-long battle Wednesday.

Before the June 29 raid, the Haiphong oil storage complex had a capacity of 476,000 barrels of oil stored in 38 storage tanks, 16 warehouses and an open storage area. In the raid last week 46 Navy planes dropped 19 tons of bombs and five-inch Zuni rockets on the depot and reconnaissance pilots the next day reported tremendous devastation.

Oil depots also were among the American raiders' targets Wednesday. They attacked one storage area 36 miles north of Hanoi, a fuel tank plant 31 miles north of the capital and an oil storage area 31 miles northeast of Hanoi.

They also struck at a missile site 55 miles northwest of Hanoi as well as at bridges, roads, trucks and rail lines.

Disaster Area

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — A Grand Traverse County committee said Wednesday it will ask that the county be declared a disaster area because of a late frost and the current drought.

The Grand Traverse Disaster Committee said an appeal will be made to Gov. George Romney for relief to the Agriculture Department in Washington.

Hefty Satellite Is Destroyed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's heaviest satellite has been reduced by a deliberate explosion to fragments, orbiting about 128 miles above the earth.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Wednesday — more than 25 hours after it happened — that engineers had decided to pressurize the fuel tanks of the 29-ton orbiting rocket stage to determine how much pressure it could withstand.

When the pressure in the liquid hydrogen tank reached 38 pounds per square inch, NASA said "the stage burst as expected."

At the time, the pressure in the adjoining liquid oxygen tank was four pounds per square inch. It was this difference in pressure that caused the common bulkhead between the two tanks to break, exploding the stage into about 175 pieces, NASA said.

The satellite was the second stage of a Saturn 1 rocket. It was put into space so ground stations could monitor the behavior of 10 tons of hydrogen carried in the tanks.

Air, Land And Lake Search Pushed For Missing Women

CHESTERTON, Ind. (AP) — Authorities resumed an air, land and lake search today for three missing Illinois women as State Police puzzled whether they were victims of a bating accident or foul play.

Officials sifted conflicting reports that three women were seen entering a boat with three young men and with one dark-haired man.

Debris from a small outboard motorboat was found by searchers Wednesday—washed ashore about three miles west of Indiana Dunes State Park.

State Police sent pictures of the women to South Haven, Mich., after officials there were told three barefoot women in swim suits asked there for directions to Saginaw, Mich. The women said they were from Chicago.

South Haven is on Lake Michigan about 80 miles northwest of Chesterton.

Missing since Saturday when they came to Dunes Park to swim were Mrs. Jeffrey Bruhl, 21, Chicago; Patricia Blough, 19, Westchester, and Ann Miller, 22, Lombard.

Car keys, blankets and $60 in cash belonging to the three women were found late Saturday on the beach. Their auto and some clothing was found in the park parking lot.

William Svetic, Dunes Park superintendent, said Wednesday a lifeguard reported seeing three women getting into a white outboard motorboat with a turquoise interior occupied by three young men Saturday.

Detective Sgt. Ed Burke of the State Police said two callers from Indianapolis, Ind., and South Holland, Ill., reported seeing three young women getting into a white boat with turquoise interior, operated by a young man with dark brown wavy hair. Authorities said there have been no reports of any men or boats missing.

State Police said the boat debris was from a craft which appeared to have been in a collision recently. One piece of plywood had turquoise paint on it.

Gov. John Connally of Texas, chairman of the Democratic caucus which voted unanimously earlier for the stronger resolution, said the revised version hardly could be called a "fringe endorsement" of the President's policies.

Olin Container Workers Strike

OWOSSO (AP) — Members of Local 829 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers union Wednesday struck Olin Containers over terms of a new contract.

The walkout affects some 100 employees of the firm, which manufactures cardboard boxes. Union members turned down the latest company offer Wednesday afternoon after walking off the job at 7 a.m.

A union spokesman said wages is the key issue but declined to elaborate. The union's old contract with the firm expired June 23 but the pact had been extended on a day-to-day basis until a breakdown in negotiations Tuesday. No new meetings were scheduled.

Harold Wilson Tries Viet Peacemaker Role

Administration Seeks Ways To Erase Red Ink

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's administration is pushing a variety of measures to erase billions in red ink from the budget without actually cutting down government programs.

Republicans have been crying foul, contending the administration is deceiving the voters and making them pay the costs of what the GOP calls the deception. But so far, Congress has balked at only one of the various proposals that require legislative approval.

While the moves differ, the main principles involved are substituting private for public capital in lending programs, even if the switch costs more in interest, and timing collections to produce budget windfalls.

The administration, denying any purpose to deceive, contends attracting private capital into programs that previously had to be financed by the government is sound public policy — even if it means the Treasury has to put up funds to cover interest differentials.

On Tuesday, Johnson told a news conference the deficit for fiscal 1966 would be far below the $6.4 billion estimated in January, although he said final figures won't be in for several weeks.

The administration's biggest victory to date was the enactment, over solid Republican opposition, of the Participation Sales Act of 1966, expected to subtract $4.2 billion from the spending side of this year's budget without reducing the funds available to any agency.

The Federal National Mortgage Association, commonly called Fannie Mae, which operates on a combination of government and private capital, for years has bought home mortgages from private investors to pump more funds as needed into the housing mortgage market.

When conditions were deemed to justify it, Fannie Mae sold mortgages to replenish its own funds.

The Participation Sales Act provides for sales of other than individual mortgages or similar loans. Such assets held by various government agencies are pooled and, as sales agent, Fannie Mae sells "participations" in such pools.

Payment of principal and interest is guaranteed, in effect though not formally, by the government.

So far, at least, the participations have been selling at prices that cost the government as much as one-half of 1 per cent interest more than straight Treasury borrowing.

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY of Michigan tells newsmen at Los Angeles he is not sure the timing and place are right for a showdown with communism. He spoke at the hotel where the annual Governors' Conference is in session. Democratic governors are attempting to commit the conference to support of the Johnson Administration's "global commitments and the policy presently being followed to honor them." (AP Wirephoto)

GOP Governors Shy At Blanket Backing Of LBJ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republican governors circled cautiously today around a blanket endorsement on what President Johnson has done in Viet Nam— and what he may do in the future—with indications they are itching to make this an issue in the November elections.

There was a great deal of political gossip on both sides as the 58th annual Governors' Conference approached a vote on a watered-down version of an endorsement of Johnson's "global policies."

There was an attendant eagerness on the part of all concerned to reassure the fighting men in Viet Nam they have solid support at home.

Although most Republicans were prepared to join in a flag-supporting compromise resolution worked out in a bipartisan conference, several of them said privately they are leaving the door open to assailing the President for any further steps he may take to step up the war.

W. Averell Harriman, the President's roving ambassador, and Walt W. Rostow, presidential assistant for national security affairs, briefed the governors Wednesday night on the Viet Nam situation. Most of their listeners said they heard little new.

Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California said the closed-session briefing sustained Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's report to the conference Wednesday that there were "flickering bits of evidence, though not solid or concrete," the North Vietnamese might be about ready to seek a negotiated peace.

The GOP members forced the watering down of original Democratic language of a proposed conference resolution which would have committed approval to "absolute support of our global commitments and the policy presently being followed to honor them."

As it finally came out, this phrase read "resolute support of our global commitments."

Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada, instrumental in drafting the original Democratic version, said the final language was much broader and stronger than any resolution the governors had passed before. Few Republicans agree with him.

GOP Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said he wants to find out "what the new resolution means — if it means anything."

"I don't endorse the bombings of Hanoi and Haiphong and I want to know more about what is involved before I vote."

Gov. John Connally of Texas, chairman of the Democratic caucus which voted unanimously earlier for the stronger resolution, said the revised version hardly could be called a "fringe endorsement" of the President's policies.

Visits Moscow Before Coming To Washington

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson cast himself in the role of Viet Nam peace-maker today by arranging a surprise visit to Moscow prior to a conference with President Johnson in Washington later this month.

Wilson's chances of success were not rated high.

The Soviet Union has already rejected Britain's peace formula — reconvening the 1954 Geneva conference — but the prime minister may be able to open a new line of communication on Viet Nam between the Kremlin and the White House.

While Wilson ran against heavy odds in his pursuit of peace, a flurry of pronouncements by high U.S. officials left contradictory impressions on the prospects for peace talks.

Rusk Pessimistic

On the pessimistic side, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told newsmen in Kyoto, Japan, that "we have seen no evidence that the other side wants peace." Replying to critics of the U.S. air strikes on oil depots near Hanoi and Haiphong, he commented that he could not see how such attacks "will interfere with a peace that the other side doesn't want."

On the optimistic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the annual U.S. Governors' Conference in Los Angeles that "there are flickering bits of evidence, that are not solid or concrete, that Hanoi spokesmen are wandering around wondering if there is some way out." In Washington, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said diplomatic reports indicated a growing war-weariness in North Viet Nam but added a political settlement "may be quite a long time off."

Wilson Under Attack

Wilson's announcement that he will fly to Moscow on July 16 for a three-day visit came on the eve of a Viet Nam debate in the House of Commons. He is under sharp attack from leftist critics in his Labor party who denounce his qualified support of the U.S. role in Viet Nam and urge him to make an independent peace effort.

Wilson will visit Washington July 29 for a day of talks with Johnson. Some diplomats considered the brevity of the visit a reflection of Johnson's annoyance with Wilson for refusing to endorse the U.S. air attacks on the oil depots at Hanoi and Haiphong.

Members of the British government felt Wilson's stand toward the bombings may improve his chances of making some impression on the Soviets. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the Geneva conference. As such, the diplomatic initiative to revive the talks that ended the fighting in Indochina 12 years ago rests with them.

Gandhi Talks With Reds

India's prime minister, Indira Gandhi, said in New Delhi she also would discuss Viet Nam with Soviet leaders on the four-day visit to the Soviet Union she begins Tuesday.

India is chairman of the International Control Commission for Indochina created by the Geneva conference. Its other members are Canada and Poland.

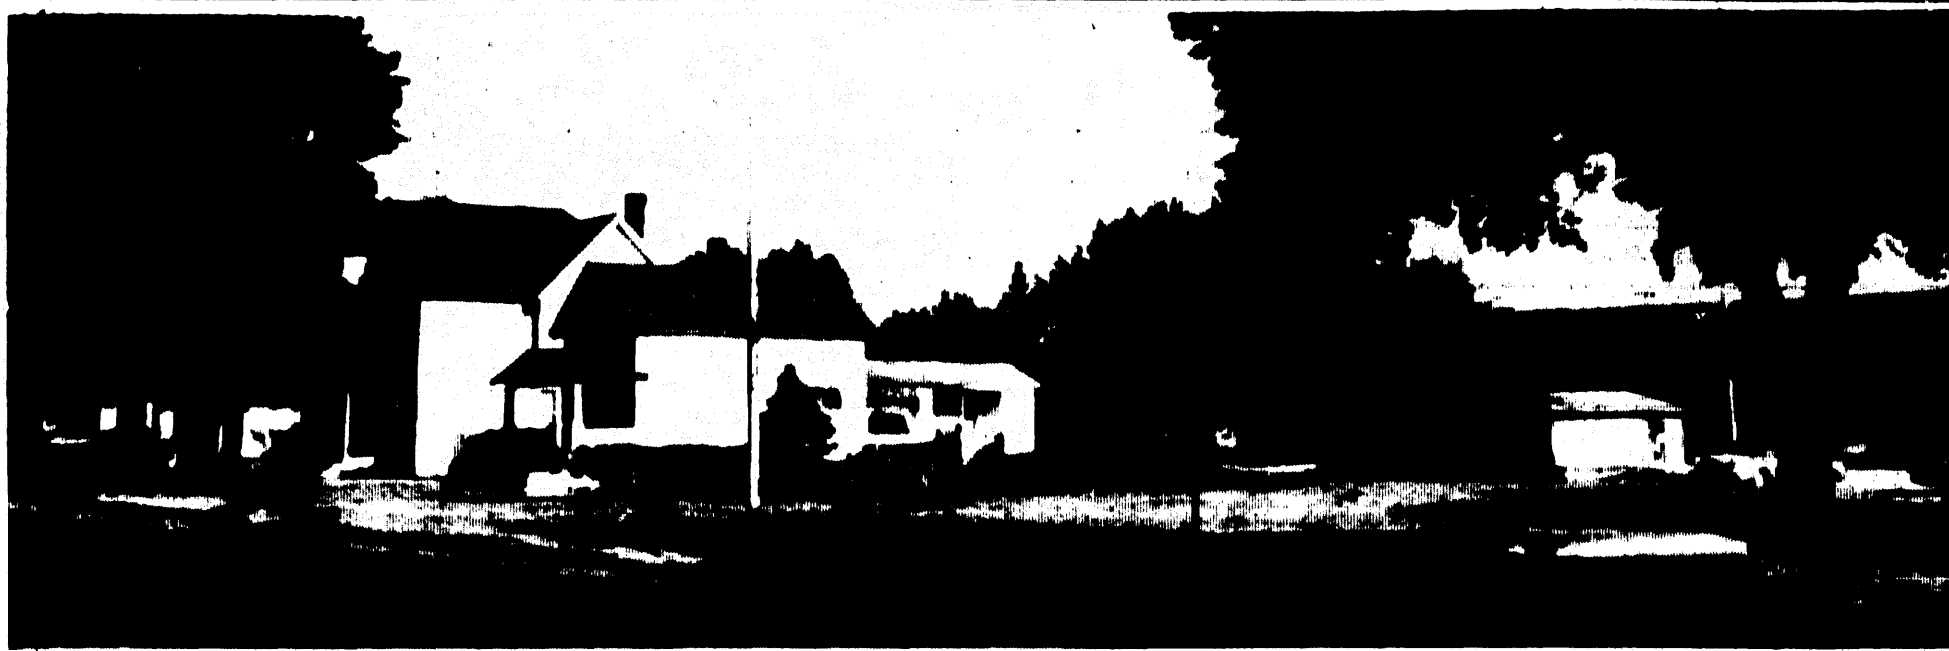

Diplomatic circles in Paris continued to buzz with rumors that North Viet Nam's will to fight had weakened. The talk persisted despite the refusal of Foreign Ministry sources to confirm a report in the Paris magazine Entreprise that North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh had told the Soviets and Chinese he might not be able to carry on the war beyond mid-1967.

French diplomat Jean Sainteny arrived in Hanoi last Saturday for talks with high government officials, but no official statement has been issued by North Viet Nam or France on these discussions.

He meanwhile was quoted in the Soviet magazine New Times as saying there would be no peace talks with the United States unless American troops are withdrawn from Viet Nam. He also predicted growing opposition in the United States to the war. The magazine said Ho was interviewed June 27 at his residence in Hanoi.

$350,000 Appropriated For Beginner

Start State Office Building Wing This Year

The state government will start construction of an addition to its State Office Building in Escanaba in the fiscal year just starting, but the project has grown so that it is only partially financed and will have the rest of its needs appropriated by the Legislature in the session starting next January.

Explaining this here today, Rep. Einar Erlandsen (D-Escanaba) chairman of the Legislature's House Ways & Means Committee, said that the addition being projected by the Building Division of the Department of Administration will cost nearly a million dollars.

The Building Division, said Erlandsen, has approved a sketch of the proposed addition by G. Arntzen Co., Escanaba architects and the current state budget includes an item of $550,000 for complete plans and start of construction on the building.

Dr. Bjork New NMU VeeP For Academic Affairs

Dr. Clarence Bjork

MARQUETTE — Appointment of Dr. Clarence M. Bjork, dean of graduate studies, as acting vice president for academic affairs at Northern Michigan University, was announced today by Edgar L. Harden, NMU president.

Dr. Bjork came to Northern in 1947 as an assistant professor of mathematics after having been a teaching fellow at Ohio University, Athens, O., and mathematics instructor at Michigan Tech, Houghton. He was the first director of the Northern Michigan Science Fair which began in 1955. He rose to full professor of mathematics in 1957, a post he held until 1959 when he was appointed director of admissions.

A native of North Dakota, Dr. Bjork attended Valley City, N. D., State Teachers College, Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., and received his bachelor's degree from State Teachers College, Columbia (N. Y.) University. Dr. Bjork and his wife, the former Helen Kaukonen of Hancock, are the parents of three children.

cause we are going into meat inspection and inspection of dairy foods and other items that are the concern of the Agriculture Department. Inclusion of this would bring the building cost to about $850,000. This wouldn't include a heating plant, but we hope to keep the total project cost under a million dollars.

Erlandsen said that the Building Division had recommended that the state acquire the four residential properties at the west end of the block on 1st Ave. S. between 3rd and 4th Sts. as best site for the addition, leaving the two lots owned by the state at the east end of the block for future expansion of the building to meet state needs.

Another Escanaba Area project, construction of a new exposition building for the U. P. State Fair hasn't fared as well in the Legislature as the State Office Building project.

The Fair project started with request to the Legislature for $30,000 to acquire a prefabricated building for 4-H Club exposition purposes. The project grew after it was suggested that a multi-purpose building might be better, until it

VISTA Members Train In Area

The Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency executive board meeting Tuesday night in the Delta County Building with Chairman Fred J. Hahne presiding, was informed that four VISTA (Volunteer In Service To America) trainees had arrived in the area that day assigned to area representatives in Wilson, Rock Marquette and Germfask for three weeks of field training.

The trainees will provide nursing services, recreational skills, survey work and a variety of other tasks as part of their training.

It was also reported to the committee that a number of families in the Hannahville area had completed applications for membership in the Alger-Delta Electric Co-op and when the remaining families are signed up negotiations will be started to bring electric power to the Indian community.

CAA Director Ray LaPorte reported that at present there are 21 students employed under the College Work-Study Program and that several applications are awaiting approval which will probably be received this week. Under the project, students needing employment to further their college education are employed by non-profit organizations or public bodies, with the federal government paying 90 per cent of the wages.

Progress reports on the home-making project for Menominee, Retired Persons Drop-In Center in Marquette and the basic carpentry program for the Cerny-Nadeau area were submitted to the committee.

Attending were: Fred Hahne, Marquette; David Olive, vice-chairman; Stephenson; Adam Sinclair, treasurer; Gladstone; Richard Bonifas, Marquette; Joe Sagataw, Hannahville; and LaPorte.

attained a price tag of $500,000. That has sunk it in the Legislature for the time being.

The legislators showed some interest in a multi-purpose building, no interest in a multi-ownership building, but they were rather generally skeptical about local rentals for a multi-purpose state building on the fairgrounds.

The state subsidizes the U. P. State Fair about $60,000 a year and its exposition building is deteriorated and restricted in usage.

Summer Drama At Wakefield

A summer stock repertoire theater program first of its kind to be offered in the Upper Peninsula, started this week at Indianhead Mountain Lodge near Wakefield. The program, featuring students who earn university credit for classroom and on-stage work, was arranged by lodge manager Jack English and Michigan State University regional continuing education director Jim Gooch of Marquette.

Plays are staged each night at 8:30 except on Fridays and Sundays and the program will run until Aug. 27. Two productions are staged every week, with a drama or comedy featured on Tuesdays and Thursdays and a musical featured on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The troupe will begin playing "Luv" and "Thurber's Carnival." Later in the season the program will include "Greasepaint," "The Stranger," "The Fantasticks," "Zoo Story" and "The Bald Soprano."

Peter Landry is the director and Vance Paul, formerly of Marquette and now with the MSU Speech Department, is serving as technical director and instructor for the credit course.

This is the Upper Peninsula's second summer theater and is now in its fourth season, having moved from a barn to a large tent at the Indianhead Mountain ski resort. Two other theaters are, the Keweenaw Playhouse at Calumet, which opens its season July 12 with "Finian's Rainbow" and which changes its bill weekly, and Sawmill Production of Marquette.

U.P. Prospect Is:

Small Game Hunts Same

Iron and Menominee counties and Drummond Island in Chippewa county will be added to the list of areas closed to sharp-tailed grouse hunting this year if the Michigan Conservation Commission follows recommendations of Conservation Department biologists.

That is the only change of any significance in proposed 1966 small game hunting and trapping regulations in the Upper Peninsula. Otherwise, all of the seasons and bag limits that applied last year will be in force again this year—with the exception of waterfowl and migratory bird hunting rules, which will be determined by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service at a later date.

The conservation commission is scheduled to act on the proposals covering non-migratory species at its meeting in Higgins Lake this week.

There was a 34 per cent drop in the number of male sharp-tails observed this spring in the Upper Peninsula, as compared to last spring on the same 39 dancing grounds, department biologists said. Most of this decline was evident on Drummond Island and in Iron and Ontonagon counties.

Sharp-tail hunting was prohibited last year in Baraga, Houghton, Ontonagon, Keweenaw, Gogebic and Dickinson counties. If the commission approves this year's recommendations, all of the western Upper Peninsula will be closed.

In drafting recommendations for other species, department biologists said:

Ruffed grouse—While definite spring inventory figures are lacking, it does not appear that winter and the breeding season weather has had an adverse effect on patridge populations. The prediction is that there will be little change in U. P. ruffed grouse numbers this fall. Biologists reported sighting slightly more grouse in the western Upper Peninsula than last year, fewer in Iron, Dickinson, Menominee, Delta and Marquette counties and the west half of Alger and about the same number both years in the eastern U. P.

Snowshoe hares—Out of 168 observers in the Upper Peninsula, 39 per cent said there were more hares than a year ago, 46 per cent said the numbers appeared about the same and 15 per cent said there were fewer. Biologists recommended that the department propose legislation to permit extending the hare season in the Upper Peninsula.

Woodcock—The department should open the woodcock season concurrently with the opening of the ruffed grouse season in the U. P. (Oct. 1) and take full advantage of the bag limit to be offered by the federal government. (This was five per day last year.)

Pheasant—Another Oct. 1-10 season is recommended again this year in parts of Menominee and Delta counties, the only areas of the Upper Peninsula that have significant pheasant numbers. Crowding surveys in the two counties show a slight gain in the pheasant population from last year.

Biologists also are recommending the same early bear and archery deer seasons that were followed last year.

Thus bear hunting again would be restricted to the Upper Peninsula, excluding Keweenaw County. (The commission last year ordered the Lower Peninsula closed to all bear hunting for two years in the

Ahlin Heading Harris Board

The Bark River-Harris Board of Education reorganized on Tuesday electing Carl Ahlin of Bark River as president; Alex Jorasz, Harris, secretary; and Clarence Ray of Wilson, treasurer. Other members of the Board include trustees Leo Gatten, Steve Shiverski, Dr. Theodore Bash, and Phillip Norman.

The meeting dates for the board have been scheduled for the second Monday of each month, with the next session slated for July 11, at 8 p.m. in the Elementary School.

Items reviewed included the reorganization vote with Escanaba on July 25; use of the new school garage - storage building; and teacher negotiations.

Importance Of Labels

The Ford Motor Co. has chosen the name "Cougar" for a new car that is designed to fill a gap between the Mustang and the Thunderbird, as a part of its Mercury line.

Ford went through a lot of hokus-pokus before adopting this name. Auto branding today, we're told, is "practically a science," but we'll just be skeptically friendly about that one because it strikes us as a daft art rather than a science. After Ford tried out the name "Cougar" four years ago and found that people liked it, its legal department checked and found that it hadn't been trademarked and was available so it'll appear on the "personal" car that Mercury will add.

Ford may be a little more sensitive than the other automakers about names for its products since its late "Edsel" came a historic cropper and was withdrawn from production. It was named, of course, for the late Edsel Ford, son of founder Henry Ford of Ford Motor Co., and Ford probably wouldn't be caught dead naming another car for a member of its hierarchy. The "Henry J." that the Kaiser Motor Co. brought out when it was making the Kaiser and the Frazer wasn't a success either.

The image makers today duck any effort to equate automobile status with Mr. Big in the motor company. They seek instead—like the gasoline makers who are advertising "A tiger in your tank"—to suggest that the machine has the superhuman strength of an animal. So we have the Mustang, the Bronco, and now the Cougar.

The success of this sort of labeling must have considerable mechanical excellence as an underpinning, but the sales force thinks that Madison Avenue, the New York thoroughfare where the big advertising agencies have their headquarters offices, has successfully brainwashed America and left it limp and with no sales resistance when confronted with a peachy name for a new automobile.

When the century was younger we had no such subtleties. There was no sales research office to determine that a car shouldn't be named "The Sick Fish." Not much thought was given to the product's name then, it was very apt to be named for its maker. That's the way we got the Ford, Maxwell, Chevrolet, Olds, Chrysler, Buick and others.

When our first marine motors gained wide usage—before automobiles here—they were named for their makers: Straubel, Kahlenberg, etc. Our hardwood flooring went out to national markets not under its maker's names, but under their labels: IXL for the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co. at Hermansville, Ideal for the I. J. Stephenson Co. of Wells; Diamond Hard for the J. W. Wells Lumber Co. of Menominee.

Bird's Eye Veneer was world famed for the name of its exotic material. The famed Kirstin one man stump puller was named for its designer, Alfred Kirstin. In Menominee the best selling local cigar was the "Bluefin," named for a fish. Smokers didn't seem to mind. Those who were fancy bought an imported cigar named an "Orange Blossom," which made the extravagant claim that "He who smokes an Orange Blossom lives again his honeymoon." Not even a tiger in your tank can do that.

Big Brother

One of the most frightening things about the totalitarian society in George Orwell's classic "1984" was the utter destruction of individual privacy. Television monitors in every home and apartment insured that no one at any time was safe from the prying eyes of all-knowing, all-powerful Big Brother.

We are, fortunately, still a long way from "1984"—yet:

"I must report to you that the right of privacy—the right to go into your home without the fear that someone is secretly watching your every move, the right to talk freely with your attorney, your banker or your wife without fear of a hidden recorder or transmitter—this right is today being dangerously and recklessly ignored and violated."

The alarm is sounded by Senator Edward V. Long, (D-Mo.) chairman of a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee which investigated "Big Brother" tactics by federal agencies.

The senator is quoted by U.S. News & World Report in an article about a proposed Federal Data Center, into whose electronic computers could be fed "a record of every important fact about every individual in the nation, from the cradle to the grave."

Such facts could include tax records, records of any brush with the law, school and armed services records, social security and census information, FBI fingerprints.

The government, of course, must of necessity compile information about its citizens. This need is recognized in the Constitution itself, which provides for a decennial census.

As the population has grown, so has the government's involvement with that population and its dependence upon statistics about it. A Federal Data Center, which would centralize the data collected by more than a score of federal agencies, appears to be a logical step in the interests of efficiency.

Too many cases of misuse of private information and infringements of individual rights, however, cause many to be alarmed over the prospect of some bureaucrat being able to produce the life history of any person at the press of a button.

The fact that legal safeguards would surround the functioning of the center does not allay their fears, for legal safeguards have been breached before.

Senator Long cites such instances as the Internal Revenue Service "bugging" conference rooms used by attorneys and their clients, wiretapping by the Federal Narcotics Bureau, supposedly inviolate first-class mail turned over to the IRS by the Post Office.

Speaking of the Post Office, recent letters to the "Forum" section of Playboy magazine revealed cases of postal inspectors posing as pen pals in order to entrap individuals into violations of federal obscenity statutes, a practice which is itself a violation of law. Like the IRS with its bugged conference rooms, the Post Office has alternated denials that it has ever done such things with assurances that it has stopped doing them.

"Maybe It's Safer Over There!"

Attacks Harm Nation

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President Johnson may not actually have much of a consensus any more. But the idea is being attacked by some of his critics as if it were still very much a fact.

Republicans, of course, have scorned and ridiculed it from the beginning, treating it as some sort of scourge that must be lifted. Now, from the leftward end of the spectrum, comes a cry: "Enough of this consensus. Let's get back to real debate."

Political scientists do not look upon consensus as a smothering blanket suppressing free debate. To many if not all of them, it is a time-honored political mechanism by which majority rule is made acceptable to the overwhelming proportion of citizens.

Scholars have long argued that, most of the time, majority rule does not mean that men elected by 51 per cent of the people tell the other 49 per cent what to do. Any president or governor worth his salt inevitably tries to enlarge his support far beyond that on crucial, controversial issues. Every kind of appeal to the general public and to special groups is tried.

To the extent the appeals work, and they often do, the nation avoids the constant tearing of its political fabric, a process which could keep a vigorous people in perpetual mental civil war.

When the late John F. Kennedy entered the White House in 1961 after his paper-thin victory, he knew he had no consensus. In his nearly three years of trying, he achieved some measure of it, but there was still grave resistance to major programs he fostered.

Ironically, his death drew the country together as he had not been able to do. Johnson gained this support conceived in sympathy and shame. He consolidated it and reinforced it.

Normally, a national election is sufficiently contested to reduce such support. But in 1964 the voters' thirst for Barry Goldwater vastly enlarged Johnson's majorities.

He clearly is not the type to say "You've given me too much." From his mammoth, lopsided victory grew his self-conscious attention to the notion of consensus.

Usually an unspoken but very real fact of life, consensus suddenly became a tangible, visible thing, to be cultivated and guarded like a formal garden.

The unfortunate institutionalizing of the consensus idea.

has to be laid mostly at Lyndon Johnson's door, though ending less talk about it played its part. He has seemed to act as if the national consensus were his private preserve, not to be disturbed by any tramping of the flower beds.

Against this backdrop, attacks on "consensus" are more than a little understandable in theory. But the fact is that in mid-1966 the battle is against a rickety windmill. Johnson's support has plummeted. Debate is—and has long been—quite uninhibited.

That the assault goes forward suggests the same spirit of personal revenge against the President that motivates so many of his critics. To exhibit such selfishness in this instance seems patently foolish.

Whatever Johnson may have done to make consensus appear his personal invention, it is still seen by the political specialists as a vital mechanism in a majority-rule government.

To talk of brushing it aside as a dampener on democracy is in fact to consider destroying machinery which holds the nation together at its critical straining points.

No presidential policy is sacrosanct, nor automatically deserving of consensus support. But to shatter a good and useful consensus just because Johnson is the policymaker could be to take revenge not only upon him but upon the nation itself—and the system of government which sustains it.

Pain Often Tip Of Peptic Ulcer

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

(2nd of two related columns)

Q — Within an hour or two after I eat I get gnawing hunger pains. Eating stops them. Is this a sign of an ulcer?

A — Very likely. Typically the ulcer pain can be localized with the tip of one finger just above the navel and doesn't come on until 2 to 3 hours after a full meal. Because there are other possible causes for your pain, you should have an examination of your gastric acidity and stomach X-rays.

Q — Our 17-year-old daughter has had a peptic ulcer for about a year. What foods would irritate it? Can ulcer patients have foods that contain fat? Is there a complete cure for this disease?

A — Your daughter should avoid bread, whole wheat bread, fried goods and rough fibrous vegetables and fruits, especially raw. Fat in the form of butter, cream and margarine is easily digested and should be allowed. With proper treatment most ulcers heal in about 3 weeks but the recurrence rate is high unless you can find and remove the underlying cause, which is often nervous tension.

Q — For 10 months I have had a nose-like escaping steam in my left ear. I was told that Lipoflavonoid, if taken for 6 to 12 months, would help. What do you think?

A — Head noises described as hissing, ringing or roaring are a common accompaniment of advancing years. They are caused by hardening of the arteries in the inner ear and they vary in intensity. Lipoflavonoid is a combination of vitamins that helps some but not all victims of this annoying condition.

The Family Lawyer

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

"The crowning glory of American freedom," wrote one exultant judge, "is absolute religious liberty."

Yet, is "absolute" the right word? Are there really no limits at all to our religious liberty?

The great, historic test of this question arose a century ago when a Mormon was arrested for polygamy. In his defense he relied on the constitutional guarantee of religious freedom.

But the Supreme Court drew a momentous line dividing that freedom into two parts: freedom of belief and freedom of practice. The Court said freedom of belief has no limits, but freedom of practice must necessarily have limits if society is going to function successfully.

Otherwise, said the Court, any anti-social act—including even human sacrifice—would be lawful if it bore a religious label.

"Every citizen (would) become a law unto himself. Government could exist only in name."

Thus, in assorted test cases, courts have held it illegal—even for religious reasons—to use child labor, to violate a liquor law, to curse a policeman, or to handle snakes dangerously in church. However sincere the defendant's religious belief, his religious practice went beyond what society could fairly permit.

Nevertheless, in each one of these cases, the court acted only because the need for setting limits seemed very clear indeed. By and large, the law has bent over backward to avoid putting limits on religious practice.

For instance, courts have upheld the right of religious partisans to ring doorbells (even if that might annoy some folk) and to hand out leaflets (even if that might cause litter).

Furthermore, under the sturdy constitutional shelter, unusual forms of worship continue to sprout and flourish. So our religious freedom, if not quite "absolute," is reassuringly close to it—just as the Founding Fathers intended.

"They fashioned a charter of government," the Supreme Court has said, "which envisaged the widest possible toleration of conflicting views. Man's relation to his God was made no concern of the state."

Ann Landers

Small Hope Seen For Distraught Parents

Dear Ann Landers: In this age of going steady, teen-age drinking, and sexual promiscuity, parents don't know how to cope with their children.

Our 16-year-old daughter is dating a boy who controls her every move. He has a car and plenty of spending money. There is no limit to where they can go and what they can do. I've told Bonnie that we don't like this fellow and to stop going with him, or at least go with some others as well. Bonnie says if we tell her she can't see this boy she'll sneak out and see him anyway.

This is not her first steady, but the other boys had parents who set limits, so at least we knew when Bonnie would be home.

Please tell us how a girl can reject her parents for a 17-year-old smart aleck —

OUTSIDE THE CIRCLE

Dear Outside: Bonnie has not rejected you for a 17-year-old smart aleck. You lost control of her long before he got into the act.

I've had thousands of letters similar to yours and I wish I could produce a magic formula to help distraught parents get through to their unruly children.

The time to have reached for help was when those kids were two years old. Now I can only suggest professional counseling — and I hope it isn't too late.

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column a reader wrote that Los Angeles has more phones per square inch than any city in the world. I'd like to disabuse him of that notion. Fort Lauderdale and Miami tie for first place.

I head a public relations firm in one of those Florida cities. I am not saying which. Every day I am approached by entertainers, business men, nutty inventors and just plain crooks. I'm astonished at the number of swindlers and fast-buck artists who try to con me into getting them free publicity. All P. R. people are subject to this stuff, but nowhere is it so flagrant as in these two cities.

I have been stuck with so many printing and photography bills that I now operate strictly on a pay-in-advance basis.

If there are more phones in Los Angeles, as your reader claims, believe me they got their basic training in Fort Lauderdale or Miami and moved to California. — BEN HAD

Dear Ben: Chislers and crooks are wherever you find them — and, unfortunately, they are found all over. The sunshine state probably have more kinky characters because crooks tend to go where the livin' is easy.

In your business the best protection against getting hooked is to get the money in front, boy. And that's what you're doing.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a bachelor who has been going with a divorced woman for two years. May has four wonderful children. Her ex-husband was a miserable, mean loush and they haven't heard from him since the divorce. May is supporting herself and the kids.

Everyone I've talked to says I'd be crazy to marry a woman with four kids. I'm pretty sure I'd enjoy it but so many people have told me I'd be a fool to take on a ready-made family, that I'm confused.

I don't promise to follow your advice, but I'd like to hear it. — POP

Dear Pop: Your signature told me what I wanted to know. You do love those kids and you think of yourself as their father. Marry the woman. I'm betting you'll make a great little group.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bank To Mark 45th Birthday

HERMANSVILLE — The First National Bank will celebrate its 45th anniversary with an open house on Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and souvenirs distributed.

The bank was granted its charter on April 4, 1921, and after a new building was constructed, opened for business on July 10, 1921.

The first stockholders were Dr. George W. Earle, G. Harold Earle, Stewart E. Earle, David Downey, J. W. Black, John H. Woolley, August Wendt and Ethamer E. Allen. Officers elected by the stockholders were Dr. George W. Earle, president; J. W. Black, vice president; John H. Woolley, cashier; Woolley at the time of his election was an assistant cashier of the Oneida National Bank at Rhinelander, Wis. G. Harold Earle had charge of the construction of the building at First and Oak streets.

Woolley resigned as cashier in May 1922 and was followed by F. L. Kahlert, O. E. Sahr, Richard E. McCord and O. L. Bye within the next year. Chris H. Gribble, assistant cashier of the State Savings Bank of Laurium, was elected cashier in August 1923 and held the office until his resignation in August 1952, when his son, James E. Gribble, who had been employed by the bank since 1933 was elected executive vice president and cashier.

Present officers are Stewart E. Earle, president; Richard T. Lungenhausen, vice president; James E. Gribble executive vice president and cashier; Kenneth J. Bellmore, assistant cashier; Dorothy Faccio, assistant cashier and Mary K. Miketnac, assistant cashier. Directors are: Eli Bellefeul, G. Harold Earle, Stewart E. Earle, James E. Gribble, Richard T. Lungenhausen and Elmer J. Pipkorn.

Medicare For The Young Starting

No Hospital Rush Develops Here

St. Francis Hospital reports that there's been no rush of Medicare patients to its beds yet.

The new Medicare program of Social Security, providing hospital service and doctor service (the latter under a paid insurance program) to persons over 65 started July 1.

It had been feared that there might be a rush of elderly patients at the start of the program that would tax hospital facilities.

No such thing has happened. But the hospital had a large percentage of patients over age 65 at the start of the Medicare program and these have been made eligible for its benefits for the most part.

Wait Numbers
"Some don't have their numbers, yet," said Ray Slosson, hospital finance manager, but the local Social Security office has been extremely cooperative and we expect to have everything arranged soon."

Slosson said that the hospital's adult patient census is the same as it was after the July 4th holiday a year ago. Counting persons 14 and over as adults, it is averaging 95 to 100 and that's what it was in early July, 1965. The percentage of patients over 65 hasn't changed either, it is about 45 per cent of the total.

On July 1 the hospital had 43 patients eligible for Medicare out of 89 adults patients.

Slosson said that the doctors of the hospital staff have indicated that they will assign patients to Medicare on a basis of need and that none have been held back from Medicare benefits.

Slack Months
July and August are traditionally low usage months in the hospital.

"We have found the elderly very well informed about deductibility and other features of Medicare," said Slosson.

Medicare is not just for the elderly. The new federal program also permits states to provide for the medical needs of the poor, the handicapped and certain others who don't qualify for the regular Medicare program.

Starting Oct. 1 the state will take over medical payments for persons qualifying for hospital in-patient and out-patient services, nursing home services and in-hospital services of physicians.

Starting Jan. 1 these benefits will be expanded to cover the costs of physician services in the home and office and for prescription drugs.

Many Eligible
On April 1 the benefit program will be broadened to include free dental care, eyeglasses, wheelchairs, ambulance service and similar "miscellaneous" services, which remain to be defined.

Those who qualify for these services include many blind and disabled persons over age 65; many persons over 65 who are not covered by Social Security and all those now receiving benefits under state-federal welfare programs.

Medicare Bills May Be Paid By 2 Methods

Since there has been widespread publicity concerning the so-called direct billing under medical insurance coming from the AMA convention in Chicago, the Social Security Office is making some background information available.

The law provides two methods for claiming benefits under medical insurance — the payment-to-the-patient method and the assignment or payment-to-the-doctor method. The decision as to which should be used is between the patient and his doctor.

The Blue Shield plans and insurance companies selected to handle claims will make payments under either method on the same simple claims form and with the same promptness. The choice of one of the two methods for a particular patient does not require the doctor to use that method permanently for that patient nor for

Project 80 Is Award Winner

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — An information program on Project 80, a look at Michigan's Rural Potential by 1980, has earned one of the nation's top awards for Michigan State University's Department of Information Services.

The department received a certificate of exceptional achievement and a $250 incentive grant Wednesday at the annual meeting of the American College Public Relations Association.

The 1,800-member group awards no more than four such awards each year.

Police Believe Boa Constrictor Has Perished

MARQUETTE — Lack of reports of its presence has convinced city police that a boa constrictor accidentally released here last month either has left the immediate area or has died.

The five foot, 15 pound snake, normally a tropical inhabitant, had been brought here by three Northern Michigan University students.

It had been placed in a locked box in their car preparatory to being taken back to lower Michigan, but during the night the car was broken into and the boa released.

Extra hours will begin on July 9 when the Social Security office in Escanaba will remain open until 9 every Friday evening. The office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Fridays.

Pageant Closes Camping Period

An Indian pageant on Tuesday evening closed the older girls' session at Camp Plagens near Watersmeet. Under leadership of house mother, Mrs. C. J. Sullivan of L'Anse, and head-counselor Miss Rita Krusell from Escanaba, presentations were made to all campers who had distinguished themselves in the 10 day session.

Campers who received awards included Sue Sviland of Escanaba, Janet Dake of Newberry, and Joanne Finlan of Gladstone. The staff includes Miss Ann Minne of Escanaba, Kathleen Kirsch and Jean Murchie, of Gladstone.

Camp Plagens is maintained by the Catholic Diocese of Marquette. The summer's schedule lists three more camping periods and there are still a few openings.

LANSING (AP) — Frank Schmidt Jr., assistant executive secretary, has been named acting executive secretary of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund Board of Trustees. He succeeds the late Larry Lalone. The position will be filled permanently by a Civil Service examination.

Radio Alerts Coast Guard; Children Warned

Robert Dyke of Park Ridge, Ill., a visitor in Escanaba, saw three children in a row boat near the entrance to the yacht basin Wednesday afternoon. They had neither life jackets nor life preservers — and Dyke was fearful for their safety.

From his car by citizen band radio (his letters are KHA 3275) Dyke called radio alert to suggest that the children be warned of their danger.

Harry Neumann, Escanaba, Civil Defense Coordinator of the Delta Radio Club, received the message and notified the U.S. Coast Guard.

In minutes the Coast Guard was on the job and the children were summoned ashore — not to go boating again until they were properly equipped.

HE GETS THE POINT—It's not an antique doll but a medical exhibit that Dolly Ah-now is holding. The papier mache figure from Japan, part of a London display of items used in traditional Chinese medicine practiced in much of the Orient, pinpoints proper location of needles used in acupuncture. An ancient practice, acupuncture calls for inserting needles into the body at precise points to cure ailments.

U.P. Steelhead Project Gains

Excellent progress has been made this spring in the Conservation Department's first efforts to develop a true strain of migratory rainbow trout. The program calls for collecting about 1,500,000 rainbow (steelhead) eggs — 750,000 of them from the Upper Peninsula — as seed stock for future plantings in the Great Lakes.

Russell Robertson, supervisor of the Marquette Fish Hatchery, said about 638,000 eggs had been taken from Lake Superior rainbows. Another 25,000 eggs came from rainbows from Upper Peninsula streams tributary to Lake Michigan.

Objectives of the program are:

1. To increase production of Great Lakes rainbows. Robertson estimates that 60 per cent of the rainbow eggs can be hatched and the trout brought to four to six inches in length in the hatchery. Under natural spawning conditions, he said, survival to this size probably would be five per cent or less.
2. To develop a wild strain of rainbows that will spend less time in streams after planting before migrating to the Great Lakes. Robertson said the fish reared from eggs taken from wild rainbows will be planted when they are a year and a half old and four to six inches in length. He expects they will migrate into Lake Superior within a couple of weeks after planting. Young rainbows from the "domestic" stock would remain in the stream for a considerably longer period of time. The sooner the fish migrate into the Great Lakes, the sooner they become mature spawners.
3. To develop a hatchery brood stock of "superior" or wild strain rainbows for future planting.

Robertson said eggs have been taken from about 350 female rainbows and milt from about 150 males.

The fish were taken in lamprey traps and pound nets. Most of them came from the Big Huron River, others were from the Little Huron River, Sucker River, Two-Hearted River and Munising Bay.

After the rainbows have been stripped of their eggs they are returned to the waters from which they were trapped.

"The largest rainbow used in the program weighed eight pounds," Robertson said, "but most of them were between three and six pounds. And we noticed very few lamprey scars on them."

Employing the hatchery program, the State of Washington raised its steelhead catch by five times from 60,000 to 260,000 a year.

SAV-MOR IGA FOODLINER

KNOW WHEN OUR SHIP CAME IN?

In 1859.

That was the year an imaginative 26-year old, named George H. Hartford, had a brilliant idea.

The idea?

Buy tea direct from the Orient by the clipper shipload.

Eliminate expensive in-between costs.

Sell directly to the public, at great savings... a small profit.

1859...that's when our ship came in.

That was the beginning.

That's when our founder showed he cared about people.

Today, in keeping with that proud heritage,

A&P is still dedicated to bringing the most good food, to the most people for the least amount of money.

Today, more than a century later, we can honestly say, "WE CARE...about you."

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Motorists Find All States Tax Gasoline

CHICAGO (AP) — Motorists who take long vacation trips will get away from home, office and dull daily routine — but not from taxes.

Commerce Clearing House studied the nation's tax map and reported that:

Forty-two states and the District of Columbia levy general sales taxes.

Every state except North Carolina taxes cigarettes.

And all have state taxes on gasoline.

Commerce Clearing House, a private organization which does research on tax and business law for its clients, said sales tax rates range from 2 per cent in Indiana, Iowa, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Texas and Virginia to 5 per cent in Pennsylvania.

Virginia recently adopted a 2 per cent sales tax, but it won't go into effect until Sept. 1.

That will leave only Alaska, Delaware, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Oregon and Vermont without a general sales tax.

This tax on sales and services is popular with the collectors. It brings in about 26 per cent of the total state revenues.

Commerce Clearing House says state gasoline taxes range from 5 cents a gallon in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Texas and Wyoming to a combined Hawaii-Hawaii County tax of 11 cents a gallon.

New Jersey boosted its cigarette tax rate this year from 8 cents to 11 cents, joining Texas and Washington as the states with the highest rates on cigarettes.

"In the case of cigarette and gasoline taxes," Commerce Clearing House said, "the state rates are in addition to an 8-cent-a-pack federal cigarette tax and a 4-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax, as well as similar levies made by hundreds of cities and towns."

"For example, cigarette buyers in New York City pay 22 cents a pack in taxes consisting of 4 cents city tax, 10 cents state tax and 8 cents federal tax. And motorists to the caverns of Carlsbad, N.M., will pay a gasoline tax of 11 cents comprised of 4 cents federal, 6 cents state and 1 cent city."

Fred Salditt Of Harnischfeger Ends Long Career

MILWAUKEE — Frederick Salditt, the urbane authority on international trade of Harnischfeger Corp., has retired after 43 years with the company.

Salditt's most recent position has been vice-president in charge of international operations but he has been associated with Harnischfeger export affairs for much of his career.

A tall, handsome man whose soft voice still bears a trace of accent — he is a native of Bad Soden, Germany. Salditt joined Harnischfeger's staff here in 1923 as an industrial engineer. He has traveled abroad extensively.

Salditt will continue as a director of the company. He has been on the board since 1943. He became a vice-president in 1936 and had headed international operations since 1959. He is a past president of the Construction Industry Manufacturing Association and the Power Crane & Shovel Association. He is a past director of the International Road Federation and former chairman of the foreign trade committee of Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

Salditt's home is in Wauwatosa and he also has a summer residence north of Port Washington, Wis.

British Leader Planning July 29 Washington Visit

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson will fly to Washington July 28 to confer with President Johnson on Viet Nam and other world issues, officials report.

The British leader will have a one-day conference with Johnson July 29 and return home immediately.

Topping their program will be differences that have arisen over the new American bombing policy in North Viet Nam.

John Wicklander To Observe His 80th Birthday

John Wicklander of 946 Sheridan Road will be 80 on Friday, and on Sunday there will be open house for friends and family in celebration of the birthday anniversary.

The open house will be from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday and many of the friends who will call to extend congratulations will no doubt remember when Wicklander was a motorman and conductor on Escanaba street cars. Later he was employed by the State Highway Department and was with the Escanaba Division of the Mead Corp. at the time of his retirement.

Born in Sweden, Mr. Wicklander has resided in Escanaba since 1904. Mrs. Wicklander is the former Jennie Linden of Escanaba. They are members of several groups and organizations and have been active in community life.

They have a daughter, Mrs. Harold Olson of Ford River, and two sons, Vernon of Escanaba and Melvin of Waco, Texas.

Mary Lou Palmer Attends Workshop

Mary Lou Palmer of the Stephenson F. H. A. Chapter attended the Michigan Leadership Training Workshop held at Northern Michigan University June 20-22. She was accompanied to Marquette by her local advisor Mrs. Janis Linderoth.

This workshop included presentation and discussions on the National program of work, officer responsibilities and numerous other topics. Mr. Lawrence Taylor, formerly of Hillsdale College, conducted the leadership sessions. There was time for group recreation, a Pasty Picnic at Presque Isle, and a chance to become acquainted with other F. H. A. members throughout Michigan.

The workshop ended with a Red Rose Banquet honoring Mrs. Rex Todd Withers as Chief of Home Economics and State F. H. A. Advisor in Michigan. She is leaving this state to reside in Florida.

Mrs. John Dagenais Jr.

Sandra Petras Wed To John Dagenais

Miss Sandra Ann Petras of Oriskany, New York, became the bride of John H. Dagenais Jr. in a double ring ceremony, April 10, at Griffin Air Force Base Chapel at Rome, New York.

Officiating at the ceremony was Father Caine of the Griffin Air Force Base.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Petras. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dagenais Sr., 815 N. 19th St., Escanaba.

Given in marriage by her oldest brother, Daniel, the bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Madelyn P. Petras.

Serving as best man for John Dagenais was Eifunzo Urianni. Mrs. Mary Klack, the bride's aunt with whom she has lived since age 16, took the place of the late Mrs. Petras.

A buffet dinner reception was held at Funzi's in Rome, New York.

The Mailman's A Lady In Hillsdale

By GENEVA GATES
Hillsdale Daily News Writer
HILLSDALE (AP) — Neither rain, nor sleet, nor dark of night—can hamper a female if she is determined to do something.

And, in the case of 19-year-old Ruth Dalton of Osseo, the weather is the least of her worries.

Ruth, who will be returning to Siena Heights College as a junior this fall majoring in biology, wanted a summer job.

She took a Civil Service test, expecting maybe a clerking job or some such thing.

Instead, under a newly inaugurated "seasonal assistant program," she was offered the job of mail carrier substitute in the city of Hillsdale.

The idea of women carrying the mail isn't new. But for Hillsdale, according to Postmaster Herb Fowle, this is the first time the local department has employed a woman since 1919 when there was a lady clerk.

"You understand there is no discrimination here," he explained. "But there hasn't been anyone interested in working in this area, and there are few openings since most of our employees have been here for some time."

Besides that, it's hard work! Ruth is a tiny, pixie-faced brunette weighing a whopping 110 pounds soaking wet. Her mail bag, which is carried slung over one shoulder, is half as big as she is. The route, covered by foot, extends throughout the business district and downtown Hillsdale.

Ruth's job will be carrying the mail every Saturday and then filling in as substitute in various capacities in the mail room at the Post Office.

If attitude means anything, Ruth will get the mail through. "I think it will be fun," she said, "and certainly a new experience."

The initial trip around the route was taken with another carrier. "He explained where the unfriendly dogs are," she said.

Postmaster Fowle says any other substitute—also a female—will be hired for the summer.

The 10 regular full-time mail carriers offered "no comment."

RUTH DALTON, 19, above, is the latest and most attractive addition to the Hillsdale, Mich., post office staff. She was hired under new seasonal assistant program and will be the substitute mail carrier for the town. For both, it's strictly a summer job, and she has no aspirations for a postal career. She will be returning to Siena Heights College as a junior this fall majoring in biology. (AP Wirephoto)

Religious Meets Not Banned In State's Parks

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Department does not ban religious meetings in its parks, as is contended by one legislator, a spokesman declares.

Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Detroit, wrote the department asking he read of such a ban "with dismay" and asked that "you immediately rescind this action as you rescinded the ban on admitting dogs to our state parks."

C.D. Harris, deputy director, and Hellman apparently was misinformed.

Harris said the ban applies only to evangelists and ministers who wanted to set up a circuit of regular services in the state parks.

The Michigan Council of Churches agreed he said, that such meetings should not be permitted.

A church group holding a picnic in a park can conduct its own religious service, he said, as can a church Sunday school picnic.

Wilson Beats Off Leftist Demand

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson beat back a leftist demand in his Labor party, demanding Britain leave Asia, from backing U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The rebel, who had claimed overwhelming support, were crushed by a vote of 214 to 46 at a closed-door meeting of Labor members of the House of Commons.

Fat Max Ties Sell Like Mad

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooks Brothers, the Madison Avenue store that has been turning out stock brokers' uniforms since 1846, has gone and done something very un-buttoned down — the Fat Max.

There are murmured apologies, of course. "Not really our kind of merchandise, we generally try to avoid fads." But the display cases don't lie.

In them are rows of bookies' delights: four-inch-wide Fat Max ties, broad as bibs, gross enough for a race track tout, big enough to hide a dirty shirt front.

Significantly, the salesmen say, the buyers are standard Ivy League types, the advertising men and Wall Street people whose preference for narrow ties had kept wider ones declassés since the end of World War II.

Their interest has manufacturers predicting a drop in the popularity of Slim Jims and pitching their fall sales campaigns to the wide widths. Most standard ties are now between 2 1/2 and 2 3/4 inches.

Brooks spokesman Richard Whiting says: "I'm amazed by how astronomical business has been with them. They're not really our kind of merchandise, but I suppose a certain amount of innovation is understood."

The store has kept the width limit at three inches on its exclusive first floor, while letting it reach four in its university and young executives' departments.

J. Press and Chipp, two of Brooks Brothers' competitors in the city's tailoring enclave off Madison Avenue at 43rd Street, also sell the wide ties, like Brooks in sober regimental stripes and club patterns.

A salesman at Press, which has outfitted Lodges, Cabots and Rockefellerers, says the fad apparently developed early this year at Harvard and Yale. The same report came next door from Chipp, where John F. Kennedy sometimes had his suits made.

Virtually every major manufacturer will carry the wide ties in their fall lines. Prices for the new models are expected to be higher, with makers passing along the cost of extra silk to retail outlets.

East Berliners Replace Section Of Wall With Wire

BERLIN (AP) — East German soldiers started tearing down the Berlin wall Wednesday where it runs behind the Reichstag building, apparently as a first step toward replacing it with a fence.

A detail of soldiers, guarding against escape to West Berlin by others who had submachine guns and gas started smashing a hole in the wall at 6:50 a.m.

An hour and a half later, portable barrier wire fences had been erected through the 10-foot gap and set up about four yards in front of the wall. The official border between East and West Berlin often is in front of the wall.

Weeks ago the East Germans threatened to move the wall forward so that it would be flush with the Emperor's Gate of the Reichstag, which is just inside West Berlin. But the fences were curved back from the gate once reserved for the emperor and his family.

A West Berlin police officer on the scene said: "It is most probable that the wall running along here will be torn down and replaced by what they call the 'beautiful' modern border."

Curfew Relaxed In Cordele, Ga.

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — Officials have relaxed a strict curfew imposed after violent clashes between whites and Negroes a week ago and say it possibly will be lifted altogether in a few days.

Beginning Tuesday night, the curfew hours were shortened from 8:30 p.m.-6 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.-5 a.m.

Only four persons were arrested during the long Fourth of July weekend for violating the curfew.

The curfew was imposed after a pitched gun battle between whites and Negroes climaxed three days of violence and vandalism beginning with a rock and bottle-throwing clash at a nearby state park.

Lawyer Knows

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A 27-year-old man arrested inside a grocery store at 3:42 a.m. recently gave this explanation when police asked him what he was doing there:

"Where's my attorney?" he asked. "You're supposed to furnish me with a lawyer. He will tell you what I am doing here." The officers took him to jail on suspicion of burglary.

Hanoi Develops War-Weariness Says US Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under Secretary of State George W. Ball said that diplomatic reports from Hanoi indicate development of war-weariness.

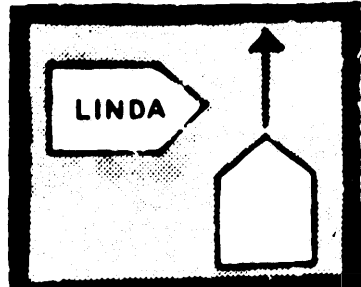

But the reports show no political decision yet to seek a peaceful settlement in South Viet Nam, he told a news conference.

"I don't want this morning to create an overly optimistic picture of North Vietnam's attitude change," Ball said.

A prevailing attitude is one thing and translation into political decisions is another thing, he added. "I wouldn't read too much into this."

Ball was questioned at length about North Vietnam's war effort in the light of President Johnson's statement "The day that the Reds no longer expect military victory."

State Helps In Many Ways

Fight On Cancer Gaining

By DR. ALBERT E. HEUSTIS
Michigan Health Department

So much has been written and said about cancer in recent years that I sometimes wonder if the main message doesn't get buried and obscured under a shower of words and phrases.

Actually, the important truth for you to remember in relation to cancer is that, generally speaking, the chances for a cure increase with the earliness of diagnosis. According to the American Cancer Society there are 1,400,000 Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer. By cured it is meant they have gone at least five years after diagnosis without any evidence of the disease.

In addition, there are another 700,000 cancer patients diagnosed and treated within the last five years who will live to enter the ranks of the cured. This means there are actually 2,000,000 Americans who have been cured of cancer.

The older cancer treatments of x-ray therapy and surgery are constantly being improved with newer methods and techniques. New treatments also involve cobalt and other radioactive materials as well as high-intensity light radiation from the ruby laser. In some instances these treatments are being supplemented by what we call "chemotherapy"—newer medicines that in some way discourage cancer cells from growing, without causing too much damage to normal cells.

We at the State Health Department are deeply involved in isolating and testing such anti-cancer substances as part of a national research project and on our own.

We are also very much concerned with cancer prevention. We are constantly searching for occupational exposures of workers to cancer causing substances. And we are speaking out unequivocally against cigarette smoking and are especially urging young people not to begin the habit, because cigarette smoking is definitely a factor in lung cancer.

All of these public health measures are being taken to guard you against cancer—but you, as an individual, should also take personal health measures to guard yourself against the disease. You can prevent its insidious growth by watching carefully for the early warning signs of cancer, and taking prompt action when you see them.

Be wary of the sore that doesn't heal—the lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere—any unusual bleeding from a natural body opening—any change in the size or shape of a wart or mole—persistent indigestion—continual hoarseness or cough—any change in normal bowel habits—loss of weight or appetite—and undue fatigue.

You should plan with your family doctor for a regular annual health appraisal, even though you may not have any of these symptoms. Every woman should have a "Pap" test to check for cancer, and both men and women should have a regular chest x-ray, as well as a rectal examination. It's the least you can do for yourself in fighting against the disease.

Rock Man, 65, Gets Jail Term

Percy Leach, 65, of Rock, was sentenced to 90 days in the Delta County jail by Justice Ross Davis of Gladstone Wednesday night on a charge of furnishing beer to minors. Leach pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned. He was arrested Wednesday by State Police.

Gives Up Kidney So Son May Live

ANN ARBOR (AP)—That a 16-year-old son possibly may live, a 41-year-old father gave up one of his kidneys in an operation at University of Michigan Hospital Wednesday.

A healthy kidney from auto mechanic Robert Wetzel of Vandercreek Lake was transplanted into his son, Michael, whose kidneys have quit functioning and who has been kept alive since May 2 on a so-called mechanical kidney.

Both were reported doing nicely after the surgery.

Costs of the operation are being borne by a research grant from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Wayne Says War Like A Western

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Press conferences for entertainers back from Viet Nam have become a Hollywood ritual. This week it was John Wayne's turn. Why was the event held at University City, where Wayne hasn't worked since "The Spoilers" in 1942? Reporters found out when they arrived. They were handed releases announcing that the star would appear in two Universal films, a Western called "The War Wagon" and "The Green Berets," based on the novel about the Viet Nam war.

Wayne had driven up from his home at Newport Beach, and he wore a plaid shirt, white tie, blue jacket, black slacks and blue sneakers, the kind that yachtsmen wear. He sipped coffee patiently as the television cameramen set up for the conference. Finally his patience ran out and he called, "Roll 'em'." Actor George Chandler, chairman of the Hollywood Overseas Committee, lauded Wayne's performance in Viet Nam. He said that Wayne was the first to volunteer when the Defense Department asked for stars to visit the war a year ago.

"I'm having a little battle of my own," wrote Wayne, who was then recovering from a cancer operation, "but I'll go as soon as the doctors let me."

He went last month for three weeks of talking to the troops in hospitals, bases and on carriers. No song-and-dance man, he, Wayne made little of his publicized exposure to Viet Cong gunfire.

"I wasn't conscious there was any (Viet Cong) in the area until the Marines went into action," he said. "They did find a bicycle that the sniper had been using."

Wayne called upon his movie background to describe the war. In some respects it was like a Western, he said.

"I visited places that were like fortresses or outposts," he remarked. "The Vietnamese live there, along with a few Americans. The Vietnamese also bring their dependents. I was at one post where the Viet Cong had bombed the dependents the week before. Thirty out of 80 were killed."

Peninsula Potpourri

HOUGHTON—Several hundred feet of a road leading from Allouez to Copper City in Keweenaw County did a disappearing act. Blacktop was reportedly found on a sixth level shaft of the nearby Kingston Mine. The cave-in occurred shortly after several motorcade had passed the site. Blacktop was quickly set up to prevent an accident. An investigation to determine what caused the cave-in is underway.

MENOMINEE—Explorer scouts, senior girl scouts and mariners from all over the northern lakes region will gather at Menominee for the 18th annual M&M Bay Jamboree July 15-17. Over 900 scouts are expected for the weekend program which features a talent contest, parade, boat races, log rolling and marlin spike competition, boat maneuvering, canoe tilting and swimming meets. Chairman is Howard Bandy of Marinette.

CHASSALL—Anita Koivunen of South Range reigns as the 1966 Chassall Strawberry queen. She will compete in August for the U. P. Fair Queen title at Escanaba.

ISHPEMING—Arvid Nelson, executive vice president of the Peninsula Bank, has announced his retirement. President Clayton Simons announced the appointment of Mossimo J. Ronelli vice president and trust officer and will serve as managing officer and Raymond L. Sundblad was appointed vice president and cashier.

MARINETTE—A $2 million contract from the Defense Supply Agency has been awarded to the Ansil Co. for manufacture of herbicides. New equipment and expansion to fulfill the contract is expected to cost the company about $500,000.

SAULT STE. MARIE—Visitors at the Sault locks this year are running nearly 30,000 behind last year's pace. As of July 4, visitors this year totaled 128,834, compared with 158,124 for a near similar period last year. The locks opened April 1 this year compared to April 14 last year.

MENOMINEE—The Post Office Dept. has announced authorization of a new Post office for Menominee. The new building will be built under the government's leasing program. Private contractors will erect the building to government specifications, then lease it to the government on a long-term basis. The new building will contain 7,900 square feet of space compared to the present 3,688 feet.

Former Senator Byrd Has Cancer, Sinks Into Coma

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former Sen. Harry F. Byrd is suffering from a malignant brain tumor and has lapsed into a coma, a family member said Wednesday.

Richard E. Byrd, a son, said his father is not expected to come out of the coma.

The younger Byrd said the comatose condition "has not been consistent until recently." He said the elder Byrd had been slipping into and out of the coma for several weeks "and we did not want to say anything public about it when he might come out of it and hear it."

The existence of the brain tumor has been known to Byrd's family since tests were made at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville early in March.

More Nurses Is Goal Of Program

Upon invitation of Governor Romney, Mrs. Donald K. Goulet, R. N., director, School of Practical Nursing, Bay de Noc Community College, attended a one-day conference held in Lansing on June 29, sponsored by the State of Michigan Commission on Aging.

The purpose of the conference was to assist concerned individuals and organizations in their research for methods to intensify and expand the recruiting and training of an adequate number of nurses for Michigan. The Commission on Aging is taking special interest in this problem since hundreds of thousands of older people are now eligible for care under the new medical program effective in July.

Definite plans for immediate recruitment and training of qualified nurses in the State of Michigan have been initiated to meet future requirements. All nursing educators, administrators, directors of nursing programs, nursing home operators, and others throughout the state who are in some way associated with care of the patient under the new medical program were in attendance.

New City Airport Terminal Will Be Bigger And Better

The Escanaba community will have to scrape together an additional $77,000 between now and January, 1967, if it expects state and federal fund participation in proposed improvements to the municipal airport.

This was the message received by the Citizens Airport Advisory Committee and city representatives at a meeting in the City Hall on Wednesday.

The Escanaba City Council this year budgeted $80,000 and proposed to budget another $80,000 next year to meet the local cost of the project.

The Michigan Department of Aeronautics has advised the city that instead of $160,000 local cost, the estimate has been boosted to $237,000.

New Location

Most of the increased cost is represented in the proposed new terminal building, plus the Taxi-way and apron for planes.

The terminal building will be enlarged by 3,500 square feet under the plans approved by the Department of Aeronautics.

"So far as I can see you could eliminate only one thing — a little snack bar," L. C. Andrews, Lansing, chief engineer for the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, told the Escanaba committee.

"You should want to make the building the best and most attractive you possibly can," Andrews added in a discussion of cutting costs on the project.

The proposed terminal building would be in a location near the south end of the north-south runway and the east end of the east-west runway. The building itself is estimated to cost $155,000 and there would be only state and local — no federal — fund participation.

$77,000 Problem

The taxi-way and apron, taxi circle, access road and utilities and terminal site development would cost an additional estimated $416,500 — bringing the total terminal building and associated development cost to $371,500.

Anticipating the time when North Central Airlines will establish jet-plane passenger service at Escanaba, the Department is also recommending the extension of the east-west runway at a cost of $130,000.

The total estimated cost of the airport development project — including state, federal and local participation — is $748,300. The local share is $237,000.

City Manager George Harvey, who conducted the informal discussion meeting, noted that Escanaba has prepared for a local share of $160,000 — not $237,000.

Jet Service Coming
"That's our problem," the city manager explained.

Bay Cliff Has 172 Children

Thirty-two units, each a fire-proof, motel type structure housing seven children and a counselor, are being used at Bay Cliff Health Camp at Big Bay, Marquette County, for the first full season, and all have been fully subscribed for by public contributions.

S. M. Cohodas, Ishpeming, chairman of the finance committee, announced today that a drive is now under way for $100,000 for a health unit, which will include facilities for dental care, physical examination, isolation ward and a nurse and first aid station.

"We are delighted," Cohodas said, "with the response of our first drive."

"We have received more than the required $128,000, and the surplus is being placed as a starter for the $100,000 we need for the health unit."

Donors Listed

All donors to the fund will receive invitations for a July 30 luncheon when they will join with the children and camp personnel. A tour of the area also will be on the program.

Those who made possible the present cottage facilities and the start toward the health unit include: Kiwanis Clubs of the Upper Peninsula; District 10 Lions; International Delta County banks; Menominee County banks; Houghton-Hancock Rotary Clubs; First National Bank of Marquette.

172 Children At Camp
John Vargo, Marquette, executive director of the camp, said there are 172 children at the camp this year, 10 in wheel chairs and 16 between the ages of three and five years.

"We are turning down requests for entrance now," he said, "because of lack of facilities. We anticipate a request for 200 next year, and with the work that is being done, plus the added accommodations of a health unit, we should be able to handle 200 children in 1967."

CROWDED QUARTERS are all that North Central Airlines has in the old terminal building. Things really get crowded when passengers come in. Al Brukardt (behind counter), North Central station agent, talks over the situation with Jon Thorin, airport manager. (Daily Press Photos)

THE TERMINAL building looks all right from the front—but there's not enough room inside for the services that should be available at a modern airport. The proposed new building will meet these requirements.

Schoolcraft And Delta To Share Health Program

A grant of $90,380 to help staff the Marquette Area Community Health Center, serving four counties, has been approved by the National Institute of Mental Health.

The grant will cover 75 per cent of the cost of staffing the center for one year starting next Jan. 1.

Additional federal grants will be received over the following three and a half years to help finance the program, which will cost $282,583 in federal funds and $167,705 in local funds during the four and half period. After the four years it would be locally financed.

The program will provide comprehensive mental health care service to Delta, Marquette and Alger counties and certain services to Schoolcraft County.

In announcing the grant today, Congressman Raymond Cleveland said it was authorized under Community Health Services extension amendments for 1965. He commended the Center's "steps to expand services in this vital health field."

The comprehensive program will result in several new mental health services, 11 additional staff members, and merger of the Upper Peninsula Child Guidance Clinic, the U.P. Adult Mental Health Clinic and the Psychiatric Unit of St. Mary's Hospital in Marquette.

The Child Guidance Branch Clinic now operating in Escanaba would become a branch of the Marquette Area Community Health Center and its staff would be increased from the present one professional worker (Frank Wiatrowski) to three. Federal funds will provide 75 per cent of the staffing costs for the first 15 months and local funds 25 per cent, but local funds actually would be provided by the state under Act 54, which provides for the establishment of community mental health establishments.

For the 12 months starting in April, 1968 federal funds would amount to 85 per cent of the original $90,380 federal grant and local funds would cover the rest. In April 1969 the federal share would drop to 65 per cent of the original grant, in April 1970 to 45 per cent and in April 1971 to 10 per cent.

A meeting will be held in Marquette Monday to set up a community-wide committee from the four counties to administer the new program.

The seventh annual Rhinelander Invitational softball tournament will begin Friday, July 22, according to tournament manager Jim Gaber. Deadline for entry is July 15. Last year the tournament drew 44 teams from Upper Peninsula, Wisconsin and Canada and the field is expected to be at least as large this year.

The Felch Rangers split a pair of Wisnigan League baseball decisions over the weekend, edging Peshtigo, 3-2, after bowing to Pembine, 5-4. Jim Edberg fashioned the mound victory by scattering nine hits while Buck Carlson stroked three singles to set the plate pace.

Bill Groleau, one of the top chuckers in the Iron Mountain Intercity softball loop, tossed a three hitter and fanned six batters as his Iron & Steel team whipped Jacoby's, 13-3. Iron & Steel has registered three straight victories to pace the league in the second half standings.

Duane Phillips, Ishpeming High School basketball coach, served as guest lecturer at a basketball workshop at Western State College of Colorado. Phillips has been mentioned as among the leading candidates for the vacant head basketball coaching position at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti where F. L. (Frosty) Ferzacca is the new athletic director.

The Soo Blue Devils clinched the championship of the Eastern Upper Peninsula high school baseball conference this week when they spilled runner-up DeTour, 7-4. Lynn Swan scattered seven hits in Soo's ninth victory against one defeat. The setback left DeTour with a 5-2 record.

Glenn Russell of Marinette Little River teamed up with Mike Johnson of Marquette to win the Menominee North Shore Club's annual 2-man best-ball shortstop tournament by edging Chuck Severson of Riverside and Paul Thomsen of Little River, 1-up, in the finals. A field of 80 golfers took part in the tournament.

Boog Ties Record; Bats Home 11 Runs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell had his fancy hitting clothes on, but the Cincinnati guy turned out to be Larry Stahl, who brought the Kansas City A's home just before the clock struck midnight.

Powell, Baltimore's slugging first baseman who has been on a hitting tear since the beginning of May, tied the American League record by driving in 11 runs in the Orioles' two-night doubleheader against the A's Wednesday night.

But the best the Orioles could do was gain a split, winning the opener 11-4 before Kansas City took the nightcap 9-8 when Stahl slipped into the glass slipper and doubled home the winning run in the 11th inning — just before a midnight curfew would have halted play.

However, neither Stahl's key hit nor the A's sudden loss as spoilers — they've won nine of their last 15 against front-running Baltimore, Detroit and Cleveland — could overshadow the one-man show put on by Powell.

The 24-year-old left-handed swinger drove in four runs in the opener with a three-run double and a sacrifice fly, then pushed into high gear in the nightcap and added seven runs batted in with a grand slam homer, a two-run namer and a double and Atlanta clubbed Houston 8-1, run-producing double.

That tied the AL record for RBIs in a twinbill, accomplished previously only by Earl Averill of Cleveland in 1930 and Jim Tabor of Boston in 1938. It also lifted Powell's average to .301 and raised his RBI total to 66 — one short of the major league leader, teammate Brooks Robinson.

Elsewhere, California edged Detroit 1-0 in 10 innings, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 4-3, Washington swept the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and 5-2 and Boston took two from the New York Yankees 5-3 and 5-4.

In the National League, San Francisco edged St. Louis 3-2, Pittsburgh belted the Chicago Cubs 10-5, Los Angeles nipped Cincinnati 1-0, the New York Mets defeated Philadelphia 7-5

Phil Equals Open Mark, Takes Lead

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Phil Rodgers, 28-year-old ex-Marine from La Jolla, Calif., shot an amazing five-under-par 66 in the second round of the British Open Golf Championship today to seize the early lead on 140.

Rodgers sank seven birdies and had 10 one-out greens on Muirfield's 6,887-yard course, which had until now subjugated the great par-busters.

His 66 tied the record of Henry Cotton in 1948 but in fact was a new one for the new layout. Two new tees were constructed and 31 yards added to the old links this year.

Rodgers had a cautious 74 Wednesday but with continued good weather he pulled out the long, daring game this morning and it paid off.

STEAD-FAST—Bobby Richardson, the New York Yankees' second baseman, is one of the steady hitters on the team. He's leading the club this year and doing his usual fine job in the field.

Osteen Pitches, Bats Los Angeles To 1-0 Victory With Three-Hitter

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Take a strong arm, add lots of pressure and a portion of self-help and you have a Los Angeles Dodger pitcher, Claude Osteen fits the formula perfectly.

Osteen won his sixth game by a one-run margin this season Wednesday night, 1-0 against Cincinnati — and he drove in the run.

In bringing his record to 11-6, Osteen allowed the Reds just three hits and went 2-for-2 to raise his average to .261 with 12 hits in 46 at bats. One of his two singles drove home John Kennedy in the eighth inning. In two of his other one-run decisions, Osteen who now has three RBIs, scored the winning run.

"This is the best first half I've ever had," Osteen said after gaining his second shutout of the year. "I've always pitched a lot better the second half of the season than I did the first."

Last year at this time Osteen was only 6-10, but he closed with a rush to finish at 15-15.

Coming through with key hits — nothing new for Los Angeles pitchers. Don Drysdale has done it many times in his career, so has Sandy Koufax, a notoriously poor hitter, and rookie Don Sutton is catching on fast. Sutton is hitting .271.

Willie Mays smashed a three-run homer to give San Francisco a 3-2 victory over St. Louis and kept the Giants 1½ games ahead of second place Pittsburgh, which trounced Chicago 10-5 for its 10th victory in the last 13 games.

The New York Mets beat Philadelphia 7-5 and Atlanta walloped Houston 8-1 in other National League games.

In the American League, Boston defeated the New York Yankees 5-3 and 5-4, California nipped Detroit 1-0 in 10 innings, Minnesota edged Cleveland 4-3, Washington downed the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and 5-2 and Baltimore split with Kansas City, winning the opener 11-6 and losing the nightcap 9-8 in 11 innings.

Doris Swanson Sets Golf Pace

Doris Swanson took individual honors in the Escanaba Country Club women's golf league this week with a 43 score.

Other low shooters for the day were Sally Fontaine with 45, Rosemary LeMire 46, Gloria Hansley and Lou Berglund 47, Peg Douglas 48, Marie Wicklander 49 and Betty Gauthier 50.

Winners in the groups for the first half event included Betty Gauthier and Dorothy Anderson with net 33s, Carol Lepisto and Jeanette Manning with net 33s, Phyllis Schatz and Phyllis Gilstrap with net 37s and Donna Andrews and Lois Biscorn with net 39s.

The deadline for entry in the Upper Peninsula women's tournament is Wednesday, July 13. Members may sign at the pro shop or with Gloria Hansley.

Roster Increase Is Only Action At Grid Session

DETROIT (AP) — A move to increase the playing roster from 28 to 40 has been the only major decision reached by the American Football League owners in their summer meeting.

A morning session was scheduled today but little was expected to be accomplished, outside of continued discussion on the recent merger with the National Football League.

"We had to increase the number of players on each team to keep in line with what's done in the NFL," Boston Patriots owner Bill Sullivan explained. "We don't like the thought of meeting them in a championship game with fewer players."

Sullivan indicated that the AFL owners are prepared to present strong cases for their side in various differences between the two leagues.

The two-point conversion option and making the scoreboard clock official were two rules mentioned.

"I don't know why the NFL doesn't go with the two point option," Sullivan said. "We think it makes for a more interesting game."

Besides the decision to increase the rosters, the AFL owners also indicated a leaning toward expansion in 1968 and a warm-weather city or cities as the site of the title game with the NFL.

Cities mentioned in the expansion discussion were Anaheim, Calif., Cincinnati, New Orleans and Seattle.

Commissioner Al Davis explained that under peculiar wording in the AFL-NFL

Feedlot Farmer Had Good Year

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan farmer who fatten up beef cattle for market had their most profitable year since 1962 last year, Michigan State University records indicate.

And, there is plenty of room for expansion in this field in Michigan, said Dr. Leonard Kyle, extension agricultural economist. Michigan farmers produce only about one-third of the beef consumed in the state, he said.

MSU said for 29 feeder farms which participate in its record-keeping project, the average return on investment in 1965 was 7.2 per cent, compared with 1.6 per cent in 1964.

Truck Builders Have Big Year

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's truck building firms are having a hard time keeping up with demand these days.

Many customers, particularly those who want big, heavy-duty type vehicles have run into fairly long delays in getting the vehicles of their choice.

Truck lines have rolled along at top speed levels practically all year. Last month, for example, about 173,000 trucks were turned out, a new monthly high for the industry. The old mark was the 172,720 build of March, 1965.

R. L. Polk & Co., auto industry statisticians, reported this week a record 530,166 new trucks were registered in the first four months of this year, bettering the old high of 470,791 set a year ago.

Polk's registration figures for the top 10 truck producers for the opening four months of 1966 and 1965, respectively, showed:

Chevrolet	195,217	176,774
Ford	171,241	145,972
International	50,250	46,592
G. M. C.	40,945	37,471
Dodge	39,104	33,575
Jeep	13,534	13,520
White	6,921	4,956
Mack	4,759	3,912
Kenworth	1,950	1,008
Diamond T	921	850

Polk's figures showed April sales of 148,587 trucks topped the old monthly mark of 147,719 set in December, 1965.

With about 132,000 trucks scheduled to be built this month, the industry could finish up the opening seven months with 1,113,000 units, some 56,000 ahead of the current record set last year.

As a general rule, shutdowns of truck building lines for vacations will be relatively short.

Firecracker Blaze

ROACHDALE, Ind. (AP) — Authorities say a firecracker apparently was responsible for a fire which destroyed three tents and caused an estimated

$8,800 damage during a Lions Club fish fry in downtown Roachdale. Since it was the handiest liquid available, firemen used buckets of lemonade to extinguish the blaze.
